SIXTH GLOBAL SYMPOSIUM ON HEALTH SYSTEMS
RESEARCH
بحوث النظم الصحية

A focus on equity in health systems practice, research and policy in Asia – what are we learning?

This satellite session seeks to build the field of health equity research in the Asian region by presenting diverse approaches that increase equity in Asia, examining ways that equity can be built into public health measures (Indonesia), evidence synthesis (Thailand) or citizen engagement in health policy (Bangladesh) as well as measuring, identifying and addressing inequalities for disadvantaged populations (ethnic minorities in Vietnam, adolescents in India, and non-citizens in Malaysia). Breakout sessions will profile case studies from six Asian countries, we will then discuss and explore ways to build South-South collaboration and capacity for health equity practice, policy and research in Asia.
